

2023 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the European rule of law mechanism, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, three editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021 and 2022.

In the preparation of the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission has relied on a diversity of relevant sources, including from Member States, country visits, and stakeholders' contributions collected through the targeted stakeholder consultation [1]. The information provided has informed the Commission's country-specific assessments in preparing the Report. Building on the positive experience from the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission is now inviting stakeholders to provide written contributions for the preparation of the 2023 Rule of Law Report through this targeted consultation.

The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022 [2] falling under the 'type of information' outlined in the next section.

The input should be short and concise and summarise information related to one or more of the areas referred to in the template. You are invited to focus on the areas that relate to the scope of work and expertise of your organisation. Existing reports, statements, legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link (no need to provide the full text). Stakeholders are encouraged to make references to any contributions already provided in a different context or to Reports and documents already published. Contributions should focus on significant developments both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, you will have to fill-in the questionnaire separately for each Member States (due to the size of the questionnaire). There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant. In such cases, you are not required to repeat the information in the section "about you" that is non-mandatory nor the information on horizontal developments.

Please provide your contribution by 20 January 2023. Should you have any requests for clarifications or encounter difficulties in filling in the questionnaire, you can contact the Commission at the following email address: rule-of-law-network@ec.europa.eu.

[2] Unless the information was already submitted in the consultation for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

Policy developments

- Implementation of legislation
- Evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- White papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes
- Follow-up to reports/recommendations of Council of Europe bodies or other international organisations
- Important administrative measures
- Generalised practices

Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- Important case law by national courts
- Important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[1])

Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

[1] Such as: media regulatory authorities and bodies, national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsman institutions, supreme audit institutions and, where they exist, transparency authorities.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Overview topics for contribution

Please provide any relevant information on horizontal developments here

It should be stressed out that with the abolition of the Secretariat of the Special Assignments Minister for Public Integration in 2009, Latvia no longer has an institution dedicated to civic society strengthening and development policy in the country, there is no institution to oversee this cross-sectoral policy related to all areas of state and local government policy. Parliament decided to add to the National Development Plan 2021-2027 commitment to strengthen civil society, civic initiatives and promotion of volunteering, as well as to establish an equal approach to dialogue with civil society as it is to social dialogue. But there was no action to implement this political commitment both in legal framework and practice. After active lobbying from CSOs, the new government's in the Declaration included a paragraph with commitment to develop and support self-organization and resilience mechanisms, and to implement civic dialogue, and to allocate permanent state budget funding for capacity building and strengthening of civil society. It can be new level of civic participation, but it is too early to prognose. One of civic dialogue platforms - the Council for Implementation of the Memorandum of Co-operation between Non-governmental Organizations and the Cabinet – should be started to implement reform model that was confirmed in 2018, but as it requires financial investments, was postponed. CSOs has been developed proposal to decision makers how civic dialogue should be regulated in implemented. Looking at the changes over the last three years, the number of organizations showing financial activity has gradually decreased in all revenue categories. This shows that the financial activity of CSOs is decreasing. This is particularly evident in the pandemic and post-pandemic years of the Covid-19 virus. Overall, expenditure is down by 28.4 million EUR, while revenue is down by 10.7 million EUR. In this respect, too, the sector's financial activity may be seen to be declining. Over the last three years, the number of organizations with donations has decreased by almost 20%. It is negative aspect of Tax Policy reform, adopted in Latvia in 2018. CSOs warned policy makers that it could create crises in CSOs sector. The precarious financial situation and weak sustainability of organizations is also indirectly reflected in the organizations' assessments of the most important constraints to their activities in the survey. 38% of organizations say that tax rates are a major obstacle, while 37% say that the frequency of changes in laws and regulations is a major obstacle. One in three organizations have problems with the legal framework for donations and one in four with tax laws and regulations. One in five organizations identifies the regulatory framework for business activities and the procurement process as a barrier. These assessments show that in many aspects of the administrative framework, organizations face significant obstacles that affect their overall financial stability and sustainability.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member States in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2022 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022[1]. Please include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English) if relevant. Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Information provided in reply to the first question under each pillar, related to the follow-up to the recommendations, does not need to be repeated in subsequent parts of the questionnaire, but can be cross-referenced in the subsequent questions, where relevant. All other questions are not limited to the recommendations, but as in previous years, cover the entire scope of the Report.

[1] Unless already covered in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Member State covered in contribution [only one choice possible]

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, please fill in the questionnaire separately for each Member State. There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant.

3000 character(s) maximum

D. The enabling framework for civil society

Measures regarding the framework for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. legal framework and its application in practice incl. registration and dissolution rules)

3000 character(s) maximum

Latvia have built fruitful ground for active citizenship, and it resulted in relative numerous CSOs who are actively working in different fields as a response to societal needs, also there are institutionalized tools of communication with policy makers, and procedures for advocacy and lobbying are well developed. But Government has to invest in development of civic space to building a stable and organized civil society in Latvia, based on democratic values, which is also a matter of national security, particularly important in the current geopolitical situation.

Rules and practices having an impact on the effective operation and safety of civil society organisations and human rights defenders. This includes measures for protection from attacks – verbal, physical or on-line –, intimidation, legal threats incl. SLAPPs, negative narratives or smear campaigns, measures capable of affecting the public perception of civil society organisations, etc. It also includes measures to monitor threats or attacks and dedicated support services.

3000 character(s) maximum

Organisation of financial support for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. framework to ensure access to funding, and for financial viability, taxation/incentive/donation systems, measures to ensure a fair distribution of funding)

3000 character(s) maximum

Given that support from the national budget is very limited, the alternative is to attract funding from the European Union Structural Funds, but this funding does not provide for a guaranteed quota for each EU Member State, and the project conditions are cumbersome, which allows only some organizations to be able to compete with organizations from other countries with much greater capacity and resources. This is also confirmed by the latest data provided by the Ministry of Culture: in the programme "Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values" had submitted 2 067 project proposals and 787 were supported, for 181.45 million EUR in total. Latvia has attracted 1,01 million EUR, with Latvian organizations as lead partners in only 2 projects.

Rules and practices on the participation of civil society organisations and human rights defenders to the decision-making process (e.g. measures related to dialogue between authorities and civil society, participation of civil society in policy development and decision-making, consultation, dialogues, etc.)

3000 character(s) maximum

Parliament decided to add to the National Development Plan 2021-2027 commitment to strengthen civil society, civic initiatives and promotion of volunteering, as well as to establish an equal approach to dialogue with civil society as it is to social dialogue. But there was no action to implement this political commitment both in legal framework and practice. After active lobbying from CSOs, the new government's in the Declaration included a paragraph with commitment to develop and support self-organization and resilience mechanisms, and to implement civic dialogue, and to allocate permanent state budget funding for capacity building and strengthening of civil society.
