

2023 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the European rule of law mechanism, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, three editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021 and 2022.

In the preparation of the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission has relied on a diversity of relevant sources, including from Member States, country visits, and stakeholders' contributions collected through the targeted stakeholder consultation [1]. The information provided has informed the Commission's country-specific assessments in preparing the Report. Building on the positive experience from the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission is now inviting stakeholders to provide written contributions for the preparation of the 2023 Rule of Law Report through this targeted consultation.

The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022 [2] falling under the 'type of information' outlined in the next section.

The input should be short and concise and summarise information related to one or more of the areas referred to in the template. You are invited to focus on the areas that relate to the scope of work and expertise of your organisation. Existing reports, statements, legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link (no need to provide the full text). Stakeholders are encouraged to make references to any contributions already provided in a different context or to Reports and documents already published. Contributions should focus on significant developments both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, you will have to fill-in the questionnaire separately for each Member States (due to the size of the questionnaire). There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant. In such cases, you are not required to repeat the information in the section "about you" that is non-mandatory nor the information on horizontal developments.

Please provide your contribution by 20 January 2023. Should you have any requests for clarifications or encounter difficulties in filling in the questionnaire, you can contact the Commission at the following email address: rule-of-law-network@ec.europa.eu.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Overview topics for contribution

list of topics 2023 Report.pdf

Please provide any relevant information on horizontal developments here

The developments encompassed in this submission point to systematic attacks on the fundamental rights of LGBTI people enabled by the weakening of rule of law and democratic structures. We have kept our inputs relevant to the content asked for by the consultation, and therefore we have not included all fundamental rights violations against LGBTI people, or all restrictions experienced by LGBTI civil society in the respective countries. We have only included them where there is a clear link to the issues of rule of law contained in the consultation.

In 2022 we continued to see the manipulation of judicial processes to attempt to erode the human rights of LGBTI people and their access to justice. Harassment and intimidation of LGBTI people and human rights defenders via the courts continued in a number of countries. Particularly in Poland, the Prosecutor General being also the Minister of Justice has resulted in the misuse of the prosecutor's office to repeatedly appeal verdicts in favour of LGBTI defendants, and the use of prosecutors to intimidate LGBTI people undergoing judicial processes, or the outcome of said processes. In a couple of countries, we also saw politicians attempting to discredit and delegitimise the rulings of courts when the rulings did not align with their political preferences.

In addition, we saw that in countries where the independence of the media has been eroded, there were consistent smear campaigns and negative narratives against LGBTI people, often under the guise of combating so-called "LGBT ideology" or "gender ideology". Smear campaigns are often deployed ahead of elections or anti-LGBT referenda, in which LGBTI people are used as a scapegoat to distract people from government failings, creating fear among society, and against which the government proposes to defend the nation from, in order to win votes. This leads to an environment in which violence and discrimination is enabled, and in which laws violating the fundamental rights of LGBTI people are proposed and often adopted. For example, smear campaigns in Hungary ahead of the national election and referendum on the anti-LGBT amendments of the Child Protection Act, resulted in a significant increase in hate crime and hate speech at the beginning of 2022. The European Commission referred the latter law to the CJEU on 15 July 2022, for breaching a number of EU laws.

Issues related to civic space shifted more towards legislative proposals or policy practices which restrict the functioning of and funding of civil society organisations, such as laws and draft laws banning LGBTI content in the public space, and an attempt in one country to ban foreign funding of civil society organisations, among others. However, smear campaigns, restrictions to the right to freedom of assembly, vandalism of LGBTI themed projects and flags and LGBTI-phobic campaigns continued in a number of countries, and hate crimes against LGBTI people often are not sufficiently investigated. A number of EU countries still do not have hate crime legislation with sexual orientation, gender identity or sex characteristics as aggravating grounds. In some countries which do have such legal protection, it is often not implemented properly by police, prosecutors or even Ombudspersons.

For more information please refer to country specific submissions.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member States in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2022 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022[1]. Please include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English) if relevant. Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

This year far-right groups and politicians, including MPs tried to paint a ruling of the Constitutional Court that found in favour of rights for same-sex couples as unconstitutional. Rallies were held by far-right and neo-Nazi groups to protest the Constitutional Court decision of 16 June 2022 which deemed that same-sex couples can marry, and that those who are in a formal union can adopt children (<https://www.24ur.com/novice/slovenija/na-shodu-za-otroke-gre-tudi-podporniki-neonacisticnih-skupin.html>). A conservative NGO coalition also protested the voting of laws enacting this decision, and the protest was called for and attended by the SDS party, including Alenka Jeraj, Božo Predalič, Branko Grims and Aleš Hojs (<https://www.mladina.si/219503/ljudje-ljubezni-ki-nikogar-ne-sovrazijo/>). Grims, a representative of SDS, publicly said that the decision of the Constitutional Court was a "pure abuse of law" and is contrary to the Slovenian Constitution and declarations of the United Nations (<https://www.mladina.si/218219/grims-ne-samo-jaz-tudi-dolce-in-gabbana-sta-proti-posvojitvam-otrok-v-istospolne-druzine/>). Deputy leader of party Nova Slovenija, Janez Cigler Kralj, said that the opposition will use all legal means available to oppose the Constitutional Court's decision. Despite these attempts to delegitimise the decision of the Court, the government continued with the drafting of the necessary laws. In October the National Assembly passed the marriage equality law, but the National Council (upper chamber), vetoed it. The National Assembly then voted to overturn this veto, and they also declared inadmissible the call by far-right coalition "The Children are at Stake" to hold a national referendum on the law (<https://www.mladina.si/219778/minister-mesec-referendum-o-spremembah-druzinskega-zakonika-je-protiustaven/>). Nevertheless, the coalition still aims to overturn the law, as it filed a constitutional appeal against the ban on the referendum in November 2022 (<https://www.24ur.com/novice/slovenija/koalicija-za-otroke-gre-vlozila-ustavno-pritozbo-na-prepoved-razpisa-referenduma.html>). On 11 January 2023 the Constitutional Court published its 14 December 2022 ruling that the National Assembly decision is not inconsistent with the Constitution, therefore upholding the National Assembly's decision declaring the call for referendum inadmissible.

In 2022 Slovenian right-wing media (such as Demokracija and Nova24) published a series of articles smearing LGBTI people by presenting them as a threat to children, and using the guise of so-called “LGBT ideology”, seen in many other countries. This was particularly virulent after the change of government in April. For example Nova24’s article “Parents, watch out! The new coalition plans to introduce LGBT ideology in schools” (<https://nova24tv.si/slovenija/starsi-pozor-nova-koalicija-namerava-vpeljati-lgbt-ideologijo-v-sole/>). Aleš Primc of the far-right “Children are at Stake Coalition” (which smears LGBTI people as a threat to children), ran for mayor in the capital Ljubljana in the 2022 elections, and his Voice of Children and Family, a non-parliamentary party, won a seat on Ljubljana’s city council. As part of his election campaign, posters with the words “Against LGBTQIA” and “Against LGBTQIA+ child adoption” were also hung around the city, expressing open homophobia and hostility (<https://www.mladina.si/220871/diskriminatorni-plakati-v-predvolilni-kampanji-alesa-primca/>).

In June, SDS member Domen Cukjati compared the rainbow symbol – the symbol of the LGBTI community, to the swastika on Twitter (<https://www.mladina.si/217277/bodo-po-mavricah-v-vrtcih-prepovedali-tudi-oblacke/>). The same month, before the Pride Parade, the LGBTI community received hateful homophobic messages and threats of tear gas attacks. In the days leading up to the 2022 Pride Parade, there was an increase in direct threats and hostility directed at LGBTI people, clearly signed by nationalist extremists.
