

2023 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the European rule of law mechanism, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, three editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021 and 2022.

In the preparation of the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission has relied on a diversity of relevant sources, including from Member States, country visits, and stakeholders' contributions collected through the targeted stakeholder consultation [1]. The information provided has informed the Commission's country-specific assessments in preparing the Report. Building on the positive experience from the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission is now inviting stakeholders to provide written contributions for the preparation of the 2023 Rule of Law Report through this targeted consultation.

The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022 [2] falling under the 'type of information' outlined in the next section.

The input should be short and concise and summarise information related to one or more of the areas referred to in the template. You are invited to focus on the areas that relate to the scope of work and expertise of your organisation. Existing reports, statements, legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link (no need to provide the full text). Stakeholders are encouraged to make references to any contributions already provided in a different context or to Reports and documents already published. Contributions should focus on significant developments both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, you will have to fill-in the questionnaire separately for each Member States (due to the size of the questionnaire). There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant. In such cases, you are not required to repeat the information in the section "about you" that is non-mandatory nor the information on horizontal developments.

Please provide your contribution by 20 January 2023. Should you have any requests for clarifications or encounter difficulties in filling in the questionnaire, you can contact the Commission at the following email address: rule-of-law-network@ec.europa.eu.

[2] Unless the information was already submitted in the consultation for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

Policy developments

- Implementation of legislation
- Evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- White papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes
- Follow-up to reports/recommendations of Council of Europe bodies or other international organisations
- Important administrative measures
- Generalised practices

Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- Important case law by national courts
- Important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[1])

Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

[1] Such as: media regulatory authorities and bodies, national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsman institutions, supreme audit institutions and, where they exist, transparency authorities.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Overview topics for contribution

Please provide any relevant information on horizontal developments here

5000 character(s) maximum

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member States in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2022 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022^[1]. Please include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English) if relevant. Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Information provided in reply to the first question under each pillar, related to the follow-up to the recommendations, does not need to be repeated in subsequent parts of the questionnaire, but can be cross-referenced in the subsequent questions, where relevant. All other questions are not limited to the recommendations, but as in previous years, cover the entire scope of the Report.

^[1] Unless already covered in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Member State covered in contribution [only one choice possible]

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, please fill in the questionnaire separately for each Member State. There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant.

3000 character(s) maximum

Since its establishment in 1977, the Austrian Ombudsman Board (AOB) has been monitoring the public administration in its function as Ombudsman institution. In 2012, the AOB was entrusted with the NPM-mandate due to Austria's ratification of the OPCAT, which entailed a significant expansion of the AOB's mandate. In 2022, the AOB in its function as the National Human Rights Institution was re-accredited with A-Status by the GANHRI sub-committee for accreditation.[1]

The AOB consists of three Board members, with Ms. Gaby Schwarz, Mag. Bernhard Achitz, and Dr. Walter Rosenkranz currently occupying the position of Ombudspersons.

According to the Austrian Federal Constitution, the AOB is entrusted with the following mandate [2] :

- 1) Monitoring of the national, regional and local administration. The AOB can either carry out investigations based on individual complaints or is ex-officio entitled to investigate its suspicions of maladministration (Article 148a para 1 and 2 Federal Constitutional Law). The AOB does not have the competence to monitor courts or investigate court matters, however, it can investigate the length of court proceedings (Article 148a para 4 Federal Constitutional Law).
- 2) In 2012, the AOB was entrusted with three additional competences. According to Article 148a para 3 Federal Constitutional Law in conjunction with §11 para 1 Ombudsman Act 1982 [3] , for the protection and the advancement of human rights it is incumbent on the AOB and the commissions appointed by it (Article 148h para 3) in the area of the administration of the Federation including its activity as holder of private rights
 1. to regularly visit and inspect places of detention as defined in Article 4 of the OPCAT,
 2. to watch and check in advisory manner the conduct of the organs authorized to exert direct administrative power and compulsion as well as
 3. to regularly visit and inspect facilities and programmes designed to serve persons with disabilities, in order to implement Article 16 para 3 of the UN-CRPD.
- 3) It is moreover incumbent on the Ombudsman Board to assist in the disposal of petitions and citizens' initiatives presented to the National Council (Article 148a para 5 Federal Constitutional Law).

4) The AOB may also comment on any proposed draft legislation or ordinance according to Article 1 para 2 item 4 of the Austrian Ombudsman Act.

5) Furthermore, in 2017, an independent Pension Commission was set up to handle applications for pensions under the Pensions for Victims of Children's Homes Act (Heimopferrentengesetz).

Statistics/reports concerning the follow-up of recommendations by National Human Rights Institutions, ombudsman institutions, equality bodies and supreme audit institutions in the past two years

3000 character(s) maximum

According to Article 148c of the Austrian Federal Constitutional Law in conjunction with §6 of the Austrian Ombudsman Act 1982, the federal executive bodies and officers responsible for handling the supreme administrative matters are obligated to comply with recommendations on measures to be taken in or by reason of a particular case addressed to them by the Ombudsman Board. They shall do so within a term of eight weeks and inform the Ombudsman Board accordingly or give the reasons in writing why the recommendation has not been complied with.

Since the implementation of the Federal Constitutional Act on the OPCAT 2012, the AOB is moreover entitled by law to recommend legislative reforms according to Article 1 para 2 item 5 in conjunction with Article 7 para 2 Ombudsman Act 1982.

All recommendations are being included in the reports and special reports of the AOB which are to be submitted to the national bodies (National Council and Federal Council). The respective supreme bodies are obliged to deal with the reports and issue a statement. This leads to a high implementation rate of the recommendations as well as the legislative recommendations of the AOB.

C. Accessibility and judicial review of administrative decisions

Transparency of administrative decisions and sanctions (incl. their publication and rules on collection of related data)

3000 character(s) maximum

Judicial review of administrative decisions:

- short description of the general regime (in particular competent court, scope, suspensive effect, interim measures, and any applicable specific rules or derogations from the general regime of judicial review)

3000 character(s) maximum

3000 character(s) maximum

D. The enabling framework for civil society

Measures regarding the framework for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. legal framework and its application in practice incl. registration and dissolution rules)

3000 character(s) maximum

Rules and practices having an impact on the effective operation and safety of civil society organisations and human rights defenders. This includes measures for protection from attacks – verbal, physical or on-line –, intimidation, legal threats incl. SLAPPs, negative narratives or smear campaigns, measures capable of affecting the public perception of civil society organisations, etc. It also includes measures to monitor threats or attacks and dedicated support services.

3000 character(s) maximum

Organisation of financial support for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. framework to ensure access to funding, and for financial viability, taxation/incentive/donation systems, measures to ensure a fair distribution of funding)

3000 character(s) maximum

Rules and practices on the participation of civil society organisations and human rights defenders to the decision-making process (e.g. measures related to dialogue between authorities and civil society, participation of civil society in policy development and decision-making, consultation, dialogues, etc.)

3000 character(s) maximum

E. Initiatives to foster a rule of law culture

Measures to foster a rule of law culture (e.g. debates in national parliaments on the rule of law, public information campaigns on rule of law issues, contributions from civil society etc.)

3000 character(s) maximum

One of the main measures to foster a rule of law culture represents the submission of the annual reports and special reports of the AOB to the National Council and the Federal Council. These are discussed in separate committee and plenary sessions, with the Ombudspersons being entitled to participate in the debates and to speak on their reports (Article 148d para 2 Federal Constitutional Law). In 2022, three special reports were issued by the AOB in addition to the annual reports and were subsequently presented publicly at respective press conferences:

- 1) Special report on youth in detention [4]
- 2) Special report on the terrorist attack on 2 November 2020 (submitted to the National Council and to be reviewed by the committee on the Austrian Ombudsman Board) [5]
- 3) Special report on fundamental social rights, in which the AOB summarises the recommendations developed within the framework of a forum with various NGOs and thus with the participation of civil society. [6] It especially contains the demand to promote discussions on the transformation of social rights into constitutionally guaranteed fundamental rights, particularly by assigning constitutional status to the European Social Charter.

3000 character(s) maximum

In addition, the AOB maintains a constant exchange with various NGOs by holding so-called "NGO fora", which unfortunately had to be suspended during the COVID-19 pandemic and are now to be held again on a regular basis. The „NGO Forum 2022“ dealt with the fundamental social rights (see above).

Moreover, the AOB has worked to ensure the effective implementation of international human rights standards by supporting the Federal government in elaborating the first Austrian National Action Plan (NAP) on Human Rights since 2014 in order to strengthen the rule of law and to develop improved standards for the protection of human rights in Austria. In accordance with its constitutional mandate, the AOB sees it as its task to involve civil society in this process. However, despite all efforts, the project could not be complemented. For, even though set out in the government agreement 2020-2024, the Austrian Government still has not started working on a National Action Plan for Human Rights. [7]

Finally, the AOB cooperates with the weekly TV-show „Citizen's Advocate“ (Bürgeranwalt), who is a very known public voice. This contributes to making grievances public and further encourages the authorities to remedy an abuse, which in turn represents an important measure to foster a rule of law culture.
