

2023 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the European rule of law mechanism, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, three editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021 and 2022.

In the preparation of the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission has relied on a diversity of relevant sources, including from Member States, country visits, and stakeholders' contributions collected through the targeted stakeholder consultation [1]. The information provided has informed the Commission's country-specific assessments in preparing the Report. Building on the positive experience from the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission is now inviting stakeholders to provide written contributions for the preparation of the 2023 Rule of Law Report through this targeted consultation.

The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022 [2] falling under the 'type of information' outlined in the next section.

The input should be short and concise and summarise information related to one or more of the areas referred to in the template. You are invited to focus on the areas that relate to the scope of work and expertise of your organisation. Existing reports, statements, legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link (no need to provide the full text). Stakeholders are encouraged to make references to any contributions already provided in a different context or to Reports and documents already published. Contributions should focus on significant developments both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, you will have to fill-in the questionnaire separately for each Member States (due to the size of the questionnaire). There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant. In such cases, you are not required to repeat the information in the section "about you" that is non-mandatory nor the information on horizontal developments.

Please provide your contribution by 20 January 2023. Should you have any requests for clarifications or encounter difficulties in filling in the questionnaire, you can contact the Commission at the following email address: rule-of-law-network@ec.europa.eu.

[2] Unless the information was already submitted in the consultation for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

Policy developments

- Implementation of legislation
- Evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- White papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes
- Follow-up to reports/recommendations of Council of Europe bodies or other international organisations
- Important administrative measures
- Generalised practices

Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- Important case law by national courts
- Important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[1])

Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

[1] Such as: media regulatory authorities and bodies, national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsman institutions, supreme audit institutions and, where they exist, transparency authorities.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Please provide any relevant information on horizontal developments here

5000 character(s) maximum

The Austrian Bar has developed a specific system for secure electronic communications between lawyers and their clients ("context"). This system ensures a level of data protection which is in accordance with both professional secrecy rules and the GDPR. The system is meant as a technological answer to growing concerns regarding confidentiality in the digital environment. Professional secrecy needs specific protection in this regard as it forms an indispensable part of the rule of law and is a fundamental right of citizens.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member States in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2022 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022^[1]. Please include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English) if relevant. Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Information provided in reply to the first question under each pillar, related to the follow-up to the recommendations, does not need to be repeated in subsequent parts of the questionnaire, but can be cross-referenced in the subsequent questions, where relevant. All other questions are not limited to the recommendations, but as in previous years, cover the entire scope of the Report.

[1] Unless already covered in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Member State covered in contribution [only one choice possible]

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, please fill in the questionnaire separately for each Member State. There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant.

I. Justice System

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2022 Report regarding the justice system (if applicable)

3000 character(s) maximum

A. Independence

Appointment and selection of judges, prosecutors and court presidents (incl. judicial review)

(The reference to 'judges' concerns judges at all level and types of courts as well as judges at constitutional courts)

3000 character(s) maximum

Irremovability of judges, including transfers, (incl. as part of judicial map reform), dismissal and retirement regime of judges, court presidents and prosecutors (incl. judicial review)

3000 character(s) maximum

Promotion of judges and prosecutors (incl. judicial review)

3000 character(s) maximum

Allocation of cases in courts

3000 character(s) maximum

Independence (including composition and nomination and dismissal of its members), and powers of the body tasked with safeguarding the independence of the judiciary (e.g. Council for the Judiciary)

3000 character(s) maximum

Accountability of judges and prosecutors, including disciplinary regime and bodies and ethical rules, judicial immunity and criminal/civil (where applicable) liability of judges (incl. judicial review)

3000 character(s) maximum

Remuneration/bonuses/rewards for judges and prosecutors, including observed changes (significant and targeted increase or decrease over the past year), transparency on the system and access to the information

3000 character(s) maximum

Independence/autonomy of the prosecution service

3000 character(s) maximum

The Austrian Bar is concerned regarding the equality of arms between prosecution/attorney generals and accused persons in particular in the digital environment. In case of seizure of electronic data, accused persons often do not know which data was seized or information is transmitted far too late for own analysis and verification. This is problematic as it impairs the right to defence. In order to be able to mount a proper defence, accused persons should, at a reasonable point in time, have at least access to all seized data, including restored data and temporary files. Also, in particular in politically sensitive cases the Bar notes a tendency that leaks to media seem to occur more often and before the accused parties are informed.

Independence of the Bar (chamber/association of lawyers) and of lawyers

3000 character(s) maximum

Professional secrecy is more and more endangered in a digitalized environment. In case of seizures, accused persons and lawyers' external services providers should have a right to object when material which is protected by professional secrecy is seized. Devices with such data should be sealed immediately and transferred to a judge. This judge, not law enforcement or prosecution services, should then consider whether professional secrecy applies after the data was examined by the defence. More generally, professional secrecy should apply regardless of where protected material is found. This seems especially appropriate in a digital world, where lots of information is accumulated and exchanged outside the traditional physical law office.

Significant developments capable of affecting the perception that the general public has of the independence of the judiciary

3000 character(s) maximum

B. Quality of justice

(Under this topic, you are not required to give statistical information but should provide input on the type of information outlined under section 2)

Accessibility of courts (e.g. court/legal fees, legal aid, language)

3000 character(s) maximum

Despite criticism by the European Commission in several Rule of Law Reports, the system of Austrian court fees – which leads to the highest fees in Europe – remains problematic. While those fees are midrange regarding low-value litigation, Austrian court fees are excessively high concerning mid- and high-value litigation. Unlike in other member states no cap/maximum fee is foreseen. Also, the general level of court fees seems higher in comparison to other European countries. Finally, the inflation adjustment of the fees as foreseen by law (§ 31a GGG) aggravate the existing problems.

The current structure of court fees can pose a serious obstacle for the fundamental right of access to justice, both for companies and for citizens with mid- and high-value claims.

Resources of the judiciary (human/financial/material)

(Material resources refer e.g. to court buildings and other facilities)

3000 character(s) maximum

The Austrian Bar notes that some departments of courts suffer shortcomings regarding human, and maybe also technological resources. In some cases, it is very difficult to reach judges or court staff which leads to problems especially concerning the enforcement of decisions. These difficulties do not persist with regard to all courts, but they are perceived as more common and in some instances as more severe.

Training of justice professionals (including judges, prosecutors, lawyers, court staff)

3000 character(s) maximum

Digitalisation (e.g. use of digital technology, particularly electronic communication tools, within the justice system and with court users, including resilience of justice systems in COVID-19 pandemic)

3000 character(s) maximum

In some areas digitalization in the field of justice has led to incoherent outcomes for parties which are unjustifiable.

First, whereas for postal communication the date of delivery is sufficient to meet deadlines of administrative authorities, e-mails must arrive within the office hours. In practice this opens the door to arbitrariness and means that e-mails need to be de facto delivered the day before the end of a deadline to ensure its timely delivery in the sense of the law.

Second, electronic service of documents becomes effective one day earlier or later depending on the service which is used: a licensed service provider according to § 30 ZustG or the Elektronischer Rechtsverkehr, the electronic communication system with the courts. As through the latter lawyers can also receive (forwarded) documents which were (first) serviced by a licensed provider, it is difficult for the recipient to identify the way in which documents were sent and which regulations should be applied.

Use of assessment tools and standards (e.g. ICT systems for case management, court statistics and their transparency, monitoring, evaluation, surveys among court users or legal professionals)

3000 character(s) maximum

Geographical distribution and number of courts/jurisdictions ("judicial map") and their specialization, in particular specific courts or chambers within courts to deal with fraud and corruption cases

3000 character(s) maximum

C. Efficiency of the justice system

(Under this topic, you are not required to give statistical information but should provide input on the type of information outlined under section 2)

Length of proceedings

3000 character(s) maximum

Other - please specify

3000 character(s) maximum

In the event of acquittals or termination of proceedings in criminal procedures reimbursements of legal representation costs are foreseen within the limits of specific, capped lump sums. The exact amounts are to be determined by a judge. These lump sums are not only generally too low, payment of a lump sum in full will only be adjudicated in rare instances. Reimbursement of legal representation costs in case of pre-trial termination of proceedings is not foreseen at all. This system leads to a situation where the state passes on the financial burden of flaws in law enforcement and prosecution to citizens. The right to representation and defence by a lawyers as stated in article 47 of the Charta of Fundamental Rights is de facto impaired.

Regarding civil procedures, the loser-pays-principle has been seriously undermined. A losing party has to bear the legal representation costs. However, these reimbursements are limited according to the Rechtsanwaltsstarifgesetz (RATG). The value of fees foreseen therein has depreciated by 25% in the last years due to inflation. According to § 25 RATG an adjustment of the level of reimbursements is foreseen by law when the economic situation changes. Such change of the economic situation occurred at the latest in the beginning of 2021; despite requests from the Austrian Bar no adjustment was made since then. As a consequence, the current situation hampers access to justice. Claimants can face substantial financial risks, even when they win in a civil court procedure.

II. Anti-Corruption Framework

Where previous specific reports, published in the framework of the review under the UN Convention against Corruption, of GRECO, and of the OECD address the issues below, please make a reference to the points

you wish to bring to the Commission's attention in these documents, indicating any relevant updates, changes or measures introduced that have occurred since these documents were published.

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2022 Report regarding the anti-corruption framework (if applicable)

3000 character(s) maximum

A. The institutional framework capacity to fight against corruption (prevention and investigation / prosecution)

List any changes as regards relevant authorities (e.g. national agencies, bodies) in charge of prevention detection, investigation and prosecution of corruption and the resources allocated to each of these authorities (the human, financial, legal, and technical resources as relevant), including the cooperation among domestic authorities. Indicate any relevant measure taken to effectively and timely cooperate with OLAF and EPPO (where applicable)

3000 character(s) maximum
