

2023 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the European rule of law mechanism, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, three editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021 and 2022.

In the preparation of the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission has relied on a diversity of relevant sources, including from Member States, country visits, and stakeholders' contributions collected through the targeted stakeholder consultation [1]. The information provided has informed the Commission's country-specific assessments in preparing the Report. Building on the positive experience from the first three editions of the Rule of Law Report, the Commission is now inviting stakeholders to provide written contributions for the preparation of the 2023 Rule of Law Report through this targeted consultation.

The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022 [2] falling under the 'type of information' outlined in the next section.

The input should be short and concise and summarise information related to one or more of the areas referred to in the template. You are invited to focus on the areas that relate to the scope of work and expertise of your organisation. Existing reports, statements, legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link (no need to provide the full text). Stakeholders are encouraged to make references to any contributions already provided in a different context or to Reports and documents already published. Contributions should focus on significant developments both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, you will have to fill-in the questionnaire separately for each Member States (due to the size of the questionnaire). There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant. In such cases, you are not required to repeat the information in the section "about you" that is non-mandatory nor the information on horizontal developments.

Please provide your contribution by 20 January 2023. Should you have any requests for clarifications or encounter difficulties in filling in the questionnaire, you can contact the Commission at the following email address: rule-of-law-network@ec.europa.eu.

[2] Unless the information was already submitted in the consultation for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

Policy developments

- Implementation of legislation
- Evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- White papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes
- Follow-up to reports/recommendations of Council of Europe bodies or other international organisations
- Important administrative measures
- Generalised practices

Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- Important case law by national courts
- Important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[1])

Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

[1] Such as: media regulatory authorities and bodies, national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsman institutions, supreme audit institutions and, where they exist, transparency authorities.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member States in the 2022 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2022 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2022<sup>[1]</sup>. Please include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English) if relevant. Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Information provided in reply to the first question under each pillar, related to the follow-up to the recommendations, does not need to be repeated in subsequent parts of the questionnaire, but can be cross-referenced in the subsequent questions, where relevant. All other questions are not limited to the recommendations, but as in previous years, cover the entire scope of the Report.

[1] Unless already covered in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Member State covered in contribution [only one choice possible]

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, please fill in the questionnaire separately for each Member State. There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant.

Germany's laws recognize universal jurisdiction over certain of the most serious crimes under international law. In January 2022, a Koblenz court sentenced a former Syrian intelligence officer to life in prison for overseeing the torture, murder, and rape of detainees in a Syrian prison. The same month, judges in Frankfurt began hearing evidence in a trial involving allegations of torture and murder by state agents during Syria's armed conflict. The accused in the case allegedly worked as a physician in two military hospitals in the cities of Damascus and Homs, Syria.

In April 2022, the trial of a Gambian citizen commenced in the city of Celle for crimes against humanity for his alleged role in the "death squad" created by former Gambian President Yahya Jammeh.

In March 2022, the government repatriated 37 more nationals—27 children and 10 women—from northeast Syria, where they were held in dire conditions in locked camps for Islamic State (ISIS) suspects and family members. Four of the women were arrested upon arrival on terrorism-related charges, including one accused of enslaving a Yezidi woman. In October, the government repatriated an additional 4 women, 7 children, and a 20-year-old young man, and stated that nearly all German nationals in the camps who wanted to return to Germany had been repatriated. Repatriated children were provided with psycho-social and other support, and when possible, placed in the care of family members.

In January 2022, nine children and young adults supported by Environmental Action Germany (Deutsche Umwelthilfe, DUH) filed a case with the constitutional court claiming that the 2021 climate change law does not adequately regulate emission reductions and violates the government's obligation to protect rights.

In August 2022, the Federal Foreign Office, announced that the German government would intervene in an International Court of Justice case concerning Myanmar's alleged violations of the Genocide Convention against the ethnic Rohingya population.

In September 2022, Germany, together with all European Union members minus Hungary, put forward a resolution that created a new special rapporteur on Russia at the UN Human Rights Council. In March 2022, it supported the establishment of a commission of inquiry into human rights violations committed in Ukraine following the beginning of the armed conflict, and in April the suspension by the UN General Assembly of Russian membership of the Council.

In March 2022, Germany's federal prosecution office in Karlsruhe opened a structural investigation into possible war crimes in Ukraine.

II. Anti-Corruption Framework

Where previous specific reports, published in the framework of the review under the UN Convention against Corruption, of GRECO, and of the OECD address the issues below, please make a reference to the points you wish to bring to the Commission's attention in these documents, indicating any relevant updates, changes or measures introduced that have occurred since these documents were published.

E. Initiatives to foster a rule of law culture

Measures to foster a rule of law culture (e.g. debates in national parliaments on the rule of law, public information campaigns on rule of law issues, contributions from civil society etc.)

3000 character(s) maximum

The Federal Government Commissioner for Disabled Persons and the German Institute for Human Rights announced in May 2022 recommendations for the protection of people with disabilities in institutions after repeated cases of violence that include amendments to the legal framework on violence protection.

In April 2022, the president of the German Football Association (Deutscher Fußball-Bund) endorsed the idea of a reparations fund for families of migrant workers who died while building and servicing infrastructure for the 2022 World Cup in Qatar.

In July 2022, Germany returned artifacts it had looted from Tanzania, Cameroon, and Namibia during its colonial period. Germany also signed an agreement with Nigeria to return looted Benin Bronzes.

In May 2022, Germany announced easier and faster visa procedures for Russian human rights activists, employees of nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), and civil society groups.

In June 2022, the Ministry of Justice and the Ministry for Family Affairs, Senior Citizens, Women and Youth presented the parameters of a new Self-Determination Law ("Selbstbestimmungsgesetz") that would allow transgender, intersex, and non-binary people to change their name and gender on official documents to reflect their gender identity via a simple administrative procedure and without need for "expert reports." A draft law had not been presented to parliament at the time of writing.

In June 2022, the Bundestag amended the criminal code to remove the so-called "ban on advertising abortions," allowing doctors to legally inform patients about the procedure without facing charges.

In August, the Berlin senate approved measures to counter violence against women including expanding support and protection services, increasing training of different professional groups, and improving collaboration between institutions. The Senate is also developing a national action plan for the implementation of the Istanbul Convention on violence against women. The femicide rate in Germany is among the highest in Europe.

While Ukrainian refugees can apply for a two-year residence permit under Germany's implementation of the European Union temporary directive, allowing them to work, study, and receive social benefits, thousands of third-country nationals who fled Ukraine were not eligible.

The European Court of Justice ruled in August 2022 that Germany cannot deny family reunification just because an unaccompanied minor becomes an adult while their application is being processed.

While Germany's foreign policy has focused on the war in Ukraine, German Chancellor Olaf Scholz and Economics Minister Robert Habeck also publicly voiced criticism of the Chinese government's human rights record. German Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock expressed concern following UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Michelle Bachelet's visit to China, as the trip did not "transparently clarify the serious allegations of grave human rights violations in Xinjiang."

Official statistics published in May 2022 showed a significant increase in politically motivated crimes from 44,692 in 2020 to 55,048 in 2021. Politically motivated violence increased by almost 16 percent. The Ministry of Interior recorded 9,167 right-wing motivated crimes during the first half 2022, including 418 acts of violence. Antisemitic hate crimes increased by roughly 29 percent from 2020 to 2021; the Federal Criminal Police Office (BKA) recorded 965 antisemitic cases of offences in the first half of 2022.

In April 2022, the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution (Verfassungsschutz) warned of the spread of antisemitic ideas to mainstream political discourse. In July 2022, vandals chopped down the trees at the memorial for victims of the Buchenwald concentration camp. German chancellor Olaf Scholz was strongly criticized for failing to immediately condemn a statement by Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas perceived to equate Israeli actions to the Holocaust.
