WHO WE ARE

The Joint Research Centre (JRC) is one of the Directorate-Generals (DG) of the European Commission and its mission is to provide independent, evidence-based knowledge and science, supporting EU policies to positively impact society.

- The JRC is located in five countries in six different sites (Brussels, Geel, Ispra, Karlsruhe, Petten and Seville) and employs around 2600 staff for all sites and
- 1400 staff members for JRC Ispra;

WHERE WE ARE

The JRC Ispra site is situated in the province of Varese in the Lombardy region. The area around the JRC Ispra consists of a number of small towns and villages located close to each other. JRC staff may choose to settle in any of the nearby towns and commute to work with the JRC bus service (see page 10).

The nearest village to the JRC site is Ispra. Beautifully set at the foot of the hills with a splendid view on Lake Maggiore, Lombardy region, Ispra has around 5.000 inhabitants and is spread across 10 km².

The municipalities neighboring Ispra are Brebbia, Travedona Monate, Cadrezzate con Osmate, Angera and Ranco, all in the province of Varese. On the other side of Lake Maggiore, facing Ispra, are Stresa, Meina and Arona in the province of Novara, and Belgiate and Stresa in the province of Verbania, Piemonte region.

The main and biggest town in the province is Varese (of 20 km, population 82 000), while the nearest big city is Milano (60 km, population 1.3 million).

The climate in Italy varies considerably from the North to the South. Ispra is located in the mountainous part of the Varese province in north-western Italy, with its many lakes. The climate in this area is known for its cold, dry winters and hot, humid summers.

Temperatures vary from a winter minimum of -5°C to 29°C and above during the summer. Rainfall is heaviest in May and lowest during the winter months. This particular location of Ispra and the weather in the region offers various opportunities for leisure activities ranging from sunbathing at the lake in the summer to skiing in the Alps in the winter.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

■ Codice fiscale

The codice fiscale is a tax identification number indispensable for all persons living in Italy. You need it for every contract you sign and almost every purchase you make (e.g. buying a SIM card for your mobile phone, opening a bank account, renting an apartment). Therefore, obtaining a codice fiscale will be one of the first things on your to-do list once you arrive to Italy.

■ How to obtain a codice fiscale?

The codice fiscale is issued by the 'Agenzia delle Entrate'. To obtain a codice fiscale, EU citizens have to provide a copy of their passport or national identity card and an address in Italy.

All new staff and their family members will have their codice fiscale application form prepared by the JRC Ispra Welcome Office.

You can find more information about the Agenzia delle Entrate services at www.agenziaentrate.gov.it

■ Bank account

If you wish to open a bank account (conto corrente) the bank will require your codice fiscale and a valid identification document (usually passport). It is advisable to contact the bank beforehand and arrange for an appointment. Various online banks also allow customers to open accounts via Internet without being physically present at the bank's office.

One of the Italian banks has an office on the JRC Ispra site and there are other banks in the nearby surroundings.

The Italian post office also offers the possibility to open a bank account with their banking division, BancoPosta. There is a post office inside the JRC Ispra site.

■ Registering as a resident

Statutory staff members (and their family members if applicable) are obliged to register in Italy, in the local town (Anagrafe) or via the Italian special identity cards issued by the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Rome (see below).

EU citizens are allowed to stay in an EU Member State for a period of up to 90 days without the need to register with the national authorities.

The JRC Ispra Welcome Office can assist you with the registration at the local town hall. Some of the documents required (marriage certificate, birth certificates for children) need to be in multilingual format or apostilled in the country of issue.

When the local town hall has processed your registration application, you can apply for the standard Italian identity card.

■ Italian special identity card

The Italian special identity card is an entitlement for statutory staff members and permits the holder to reside in Italy without registering at the local town hall population register. This card is issued by the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and has to be requested within 30 days of the entry into service in Italy. The JRC Ispra Welcome Office is in charge of the procedure upon request from the staff member.

A passport with validity of at least six months is required in order to apply.

Dependent family members can also be entitled to the Italian special identity card

if they effectively live in Italy and under certain conditions. Please contact the JRC Ispra Welcome Office upon your arrival for more information.

Staff members of non-EU nationality must request the Italian special identity card for themselves and their family members and need to arrive to Italy with a Visa D issued by an Italian Embassy/Consulate in their country of origin. If this is your case, please contact the JRC Ispra Welcome Office at least two months before your arrival for assistance with the Visa D procedure. Passports with the validity of at least 2 years are required.

Grantholders, trainees and seconded national experts cannot request the Italian special identity card.

■ Non-statutory staff

Non-statutory non-Italian staff (grantholders, seconded national experts) have to register as a resident at their local town hall (Anagrafe) to reside in Italy, providing an ID document, work contract, codice fiscale and any other documents which may be required (e.g. birth certificate, apartment rental contract).

The JRC Ispra Welcome Office can assist you with the procedure.

■ Family members–non-EU citizens

Family members of non-EU nationality with a staff member who has an EU-nationality need to obtain an Italian stay permit or an Italian special identity card.

A number of documents (in some cases apostilled and translated) and/or Visa C or D are needed.

The JRC Ispra Welcome Office can offer more information about the procedure; please contact them at least two months before your arrival.

■ JRC Ispra Medical Service

The JRC Ispra site Medical Service offers assistance to the staff during working hours and do various medical examinations, including an annual medical check-up.

Upon request, the JRC Ispra Medical Service can provide staff with an updated list of general practitioners and specialists in the area.

■ Health Insurance

JRC statutory staff members (and under certain conditions their family members) are covered by the Joint Sickness and Insurance Scheme (JSIS). The JSIS monthly contribution is paid directly from the statutory staff member's salary.

Family members arriving to Italy are required to have health coverage either via their national health system (for example the S1 form) or a private health insurance until JSIS membership assessment has been finalised.

Non-statutory staff members are not covered by JSIS and will receive information in this regard by the competent HR service.

■ Temporary JRC accommodation

Upon availability, newcomers have the possibility to rent a furnished apartment near the JRC Ispra site for a limited period.

JRC Foresteria buildings image@European Commission

The JRC Ispra apartments, referred to as the 'Foresteria', are located in a park within five minutes' walk from the Ispra site main entrance. The number of occupants determines the type of apartment and the rent is calculated on the basis of the employee's salary.

For more information, please contact OIB-ISPRA-FLAT-REQUESTS@ec.europa.eu

■ Renting accommodation

In order to get an idea about the offer and prices on the market, you may want to visit some of the Italian real estate search engines.

■ Rental contracts

Please note that rental contracts have to be registered with the local revenue office. Please contact your landlord or estate agency to receive the registered document.

When signing a rental contract you might be required to leave a deposit of one to three months rent.

■ Childcare & Schooling

The European Commission on the Ispra site has a fee-based Crèche (nursery) and Garderie (after school service) located next to the Ispra Site.

image@European Commission

The Crèche welcomes children from fourteen weeks to four years of age. It is known for its warmth, high standards of professionalism and sound early years' education.

The Garderie organises after-school childcare (from 4 to 12 years of age). The emphasis is on relaxation, pleasure, play, contact and well-being. It is open for holidays during the school year and during the summer holidays, when it evolves into 'Eurolandia Summer Activity Camp'.

Due to the limited number of places, you are advised to contact the Ispra OIB as soon as possible while noting that children might be placed on a waiting list before they can be admitted.

There are strict deadlines for applications, for more information contact: OIB-ISPRA-CRECHE-GARDERIE@ec.europa.eu

There are also a number of childcare facilities run by either public or private operators in the local area. To obtain a list, please contact OIB-ISPRA-CRECHE-GARDERIE@ec.europa.eu
