

2026 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the Annual Rule of Law Cycle, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, six editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published since 2020.

As every year, the Commission would like to invite the stakeholders to provide contributions to the 2026 Rule of Law Report. On the basis of these contributions and on-going developments, further targeted questions may be shared at a later stage of preparation of the 2026 Rule of Law Report, in particular in the context of country visits, or bilateral contacts.

The Commission invites stakeholders to provide contributions which include:

(1) developments and measures taken in relation to the recommendations in the 2025 report,
(2) developments related to topics covered in the 2025 country chapters, as well as any other new developments related to the rule of law.

The input should consist of a short summary, if possible in English, covering the areas referred to below. Legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link. Contributions should focus on significant developments since the last Rule of Law Report both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

This questionnaire also integrates the separate questionnaire on the single market from last year. In addition to these specific questions, respondents to the questionnaire are invited to consider the Single Market dimension, including any relevant cross-border issues, in all their answers.

Where questions of particular relevance under the single market dimension, this is indicated before the relevant question.

[1] Unless the information was already submitted in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information to be included:

D) Any other relevant developments

- National authorities are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

Where relevant, please also indicate whether the developments reported are linked to the implementation of reforms and investments under the national Recovery Resilience Plan. To simplify your answers to the questionnaire, if there are no developments, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports does not need not be repeated.

In 2024 Article 150 of the Belgian Constitution was opened for amendments, which could lead to the prosecution of press offenses (including LGBTI-phobic online hate) in a correctional court rather than the higher criminal court. Since trials at the higher criminal court are more arduous and costly, also involving a jury, it is almost never organized for a press offense. This has meant that in practice, a press offense related to LGBTI-phobia almost never leads to a trial. The correctional court, on the other hand, is a lighter process, not involving a jury, and can be organized much more rapidly. Therefore if Article 150 is amended to include this change, LGBTI-phobic online hate is significantly more likely to be brought to court. In 2025 there were no developments regarding this, as the government has yet to propose any changes.

Over the last years, there has been an increasing concentration of media ownership by a limited number of actors. The most important Belgian media are controlled by only 7 private groups. Measures to prevent high media ownership concentration remain limited. Editorial independence is vulnerable to commercial influence. There are self-regulatory safeguards but there is pressure in practice.

In their 2024 report, published in 2025, la Ligue des Droits Humains reported [<https://www.liguedh.be/wp-content/uploads/2025/01/Article-2-Liberte-de-la-presse-article-bv.pdf>] on several attempts to attack the fundamental freedom of press that have caused concern, leading to Belgium being reprimanded twice by the Council of Europe.

IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2025 Report regarding the system of checks and balances (if applicable)

5000 character(s) maximum

A. The process for preparing, enacting and implementing laws

[single market relevance] Framework, policy and use of impact assessments and evidence based policy-making, stakeholders*/public consultations (including rules and practices on the transparent participation of civil society to policy development and decision-making processes), and transparency and quality of the legislative process in the preparatory, the parliamentary and implementation phase (including guidance on how to implement legislation)

 This includes also the consultation of social partners*

5000 character(s) maximum

LGBTI civil society organisations (CSOs) are relatively well involved in policy development. They have been consulted by equality bodies and ministerial offices to develop or give advice regarding strategies, policies, and the national action plan. However, there is a lack of consultation regarding the follow-up of the actions.

Following the formation of the Federal Government in February 2025, a general political note was issued in which they committed to work on two legal files regarding LGBTI people that are cause for concern, however, there has since been no progress on either file:

- There is still a mandatory abstinence period of four months for men who have sex with men (MSM) before being allowed to donate blood. This is a blatant discrimination, since for other groups, the abstinence period is only requested if there has been risky behaviour (individual risk assessment). For an MSM couple in a long-term monogamous relationship, there is no reason to demand such an abstinence period.
- A law to protect intersex infants from genital mutilation, and the rights of all people presenting variations in sex characteristics in general, has been in the pipeline for several years but has not been properly examined by the parliament yet.

[single market relevance] Rules and use of fast-track procedures and emergency procedures (for example, the percentage of decisions adopted through emergency /urgent procedure compared to the total number of adopted decisions)

5000 character(s) maximum

B. Independent authorities

Independence, resources, capacity and powers (including effective access to relevant data) of national human rights institutions ('NHRIs'), of ombudsman institutions if different from NHRIs, of equality bodies if different from NHRIs and of supreme audit institutions

(Cf. the website of the European Court of Auditors: <https://www.eca.europa.eu/en/Pages/SupremeAuditInstitutions.aspx#>)

5000 character(s) maximum

Statistics/reports concerning the follow-up to recommendations by National Human Rights Institutions, ombudsman institutions, equality bodies and supreme audit institutions in the past year

5000 character(s) maximum

C. Accessibility and judicial review of administrative decisions

[single market relevance] Transparency of administrative decisions and sanctions (incl. their publication and rules on collection of related data) and respect of the good administration principle (including the obligation of the administration to give reasons for decisions)

5000 character(s) maximum

[single market relevance] Judicial review of administrative decisions: short description of the general regime (in particular competent court, scope, suspensive effect, interim measures, and any applicable specific rules or derogations from the general regime of judicial review)

5000 character(s) maximum

[single market relevance] Safeguards (other than judicial review) regarding decisions or inaction of administrative authorities, including remedies (e.g. administrative review)

5000 character(s) maximum

5000 character(s) maximum

[single market relevance] Implementation of final judgments by the public administration and State institutions and follow-up given to supranational judgments, including decisions from the European Court of Human Rights, as well as available remedies in case of non-implementation

5000 character(s) maximum

5000 character(s) maximum

D. The enabling framework for civil society

Measures regarding the framework for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. legal framework and its application in practice incl. registration, transparency and dissolution rules)

5000 character(s) maximum

Rules and practices having an impact on the effective operation and safety of civil society organisations and human rights defenders. This includes measures to protect them from attacks – verbal, physical or on-line –, intimidation, legal threats incl. SLAPPs, negative narratives or smear campaigns, measures capable of affecting the public perception of civil society organisations, etc. It also includes measures to monitor threats or attacks and dedicated support services, as well as available remedies

5000 character(s) maximum

Belgian LGBTI CSOs and human rights defenders are generally well supported. However, despite a progressive legal framework, LGBTI persons still face violence, intimidation, and harassment, both in the streets and on social media. Unia has recorded an increase in cases of discrimination, hate crime and hate speech related to sexual orientation, particularly in the last four years in which the rate of increase has also been rising.
In March 2024 Circular COL13/2013 [<https://www.om-mp.be/fr/savoir-plus/circulaires>] was amended in order to improve the system for recording discrimination complaints, making it possible to identify various grounds of discrimination, including sexual orientation and gender identity. COL13/2013 sets out guidelines for public prosecutors, labour auditors, police services and inspection services.

There are no legal/regulatory restrictions on LGBTI activities, however, the new government elected in June 2024 has introduced much stricter policy regarding migration, which has an impact on LGBTI asylum seekers. The funding to work on these topics (migration and asylum-related) is also more limited. Belgium now has one of the most restrictive frameworks for migrants and refugees. In an April 2025 report [<https://www.amnesty.org/en/documents/eur14/9161/2025/en/>], Amnesty International showed how Belgium has been condemned on numerous occasions by international institutions for not respecting international agreements on adequate reception conditions, including the EU's Reception Conditions Directive.

Organisation of financial support for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. framework to ensure access to funding, and for financial viability, taxation/incentive/donation systems, measures to ensure a fair distribution of funding)

5000 character(s) maximum

The current governments of Belgium want to reduce the overall budget allocated to civil society. While the decision to provide multi-annual, longer-term funding is positive for civil society, the overall amount allocated for this sector is reduced in Wallonia and Flanders [<https://www.monasbl.be/nouvelles/financement/budget-2025-les-mesures-qui-impactent-directement-les-asbl>]. In the region of Brussels, funding for civil society is stalled due to the delay in the formation of the new regional government, which has resulted in NGO closures and laying off of staff.

The federal government has decided to reduce the tax deductibility of donations made to non-profit organizations [<https://www.monasbl.be/nouvelles/fiscalite/coup-dur-pour-les-asbl-la-deductibilite-des-dons-reduite-30>]. By lowering the financial incentive for individuals to donate, this measure may lead to a decrease in private contributions. For many non-profit organizations, which already operate with limited resources and rely on donations to support essential activities and services, this change could have a significant and lasting impact on their financial sustainability.

E. Initiatives to foster a rule of law culture

If there have been developments related to initiatives to foster a rule of law culture, please specify, which (e.g. debates in national parliaments on the rule of law, public information campaigns on rule of law issues, contributions from civil society, education initiatives, etc.)

Cross-pillar elements: cross-border rule of law issues related to the Single Market

If there are any significant challenges concerning the Single Market you have been facing in a cross-border context relating to any of the four pillars of the report, including for example issues with market access and the conditions for economic activities, that you would like to highlight, please do so here.

Given the cross-cutting nature of this question, it is included as a separate section in the questionnaire. Information collected under this question will however be integrated under the relevant existing pillar(s) of the Report.
