

2026 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the Annual Rule of Law Cycle, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, six editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published since 2020.

As every year, the Commission would like to invite the stakeholders to provide contributions to the 2026 Rule of Law Report. On the basis of these contributions and on-going developments, further targeted questions may be shared at a later stage of preparation of the 2026 Rule of Law Report, in particular in the context of country visits, or bilateral contacts.

The Commission invites stakeholders to provide contributions which include:

(1) developments and measures taken in relation to the recommendations in the 2025 report,
(2) developments related to topics covered in the 2025 country chapters, as well as any other new developments related to the rule of law.

The input should consist of a short summary, if possible in English, covering the areas referred to below. Legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link. Contributions should focus on significant developments since the last Rule of Law Report both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

This questionnaire also integrates the separate questionnaire on the single market from last year. In addition to these specific questions, respondents to the questionnaire are invited to consider the Single Market dimension, including any relevant cross-border issues, in all their answers.

Where questions of particular relevance under the single market dimension, this is indicated before the relevant question.

[1] Unless the information was already submitted in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information to be included:

Under each of the four pillars, the replies should include references to the following types of information:

A) Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- legislative plans envisaged by the Government

B) Policy developments

- Implementation and enforcement of legislation
- evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- white papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes

C) Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- state of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, Prosecutor General, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the request for input[2])

D) Any other relevant developments

- National authorities are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

Where relevant, please also indicate whether the developments reported are linked to the implementation of reforms and investments under the national Recovery Resilience Plan. To simplify your answers to the questionnaire, if there are no developments, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports does not need not be repeated.

I. Justice System

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2025 Report regarding the justice system (if applicable)

5000 character(s) maximum

A. Independence

Appointment and selection of judges, prosecutors and court presidents (incl. judicial review)

(The reference to 'judges' concerns judges at all level and types of courts as well as judges at constitutional courts)

5000 character(s) maximum

The 2025 Rule of Law Report commended Greece for fully aligning with the European Commission's recommendations regarding the appointments to the highest positions of the judiciary. However, only a few months after the adoption of the latest amendment to the relevant provisions, the absence of appropriate safeguards to ensure consultations with the judiciary are meaningful is already felt. In July 2025, the Ministry of Justice issued a decree (O.G.G. Issue C 2693/22-07-2025, available in Greek at <https://search.et.gr/el/fek/?fekId=784583>) appointing eight new Vice Presidents to the Supreme Civil and Criminal Court (Areios Pagos). The Union of Judges and Prosecutors lambasted the decision in a press release pointedly titled "The end of illusions, or lessons on how to repeal a law in practice" (23-7-2025, available in Greek at <https://ende.gr/%ce%b4%ce%b5%ce%bb%cf%84%ce%b9%ce%bf-%cf%84%cf%85%cf%80%ce%bf%cf%85-%cf%84%ce%bf-%cf%84%ce%ad%ce%bb%ce%bf%cf%82-%cf%84%cf%89%ce%bd-%cf%88%ce%b5%cf%85%ce%b4%ce%b1%ce%b9%cf%83%ce%b8%ce%ae%cf%83%ce%b5/>).

The Union stated that "Supreme Court judges of recognized prestige and integrity who are held in high esteem by the entire legal community, with excellent legal credentials, who came out on top in the election process among the members of the Court, were not deemed capable of filling any of the eight vacant positions of Vice-Presidents of the Supreme Court!". It, further, posited that the amendment to the selection process was nominal and enacted solely to comply with EU recommendations with no real intention of implementing it in practice.

This development highlights the need to ensure the enforceability of these procedures, in line with acknowledged benchmarks. Indeed, the Venice Commission sets clear standards for the appointment model, considering it incompatible with European standards when not effectively safeguarding against political influence. Although an obligation to choose a candidate only from among the shortlisted candidates could be viewed as requiring a Constitutional amendment, as noted in the 2025 Rule of Law Report, enacting other checks and balances, such as the obligation to justify departing decisions, would not.

Irremovability of judges, including transfers, (incl. as part of judicial map reform), dismissal and retirement regime of judges, court presidents and prosecutors (incl. judicial review)

5000 character(s) maximum

Independence (including composition and nomination and dismissal of its members), and powers of the body tasked with safeguarding the independence of the judiciary (e.g. Council for the Judiciary)

5000 character(s) maximum

In Greece, judicial independence is often directly linked to the leadership of the judiciary, who holds broad disciplinary powers as well as the competence to withdraw and reallocate cases from specific courts and/or members of the judiciary on an exceptional basis. On 7 April 2025, the plenary of the Greek Bar Associations submitted a report to the Minister of Justice, requesting the initiation of disciplinary proceedings against the former President of Areios Pagos, Ioanna Klapa. The report cites her “repeated interventions in the exercise of judges’ duties”, exemplified by her initiation of disciplinary proceedings against the judges overseeing a case involving the Urban Planning Authority of Rhodes and local businesses (<https://olomeleia.gr/index.php/el/content/sfodri-antidراسi-tis-se-tis-olomeleias-gia-tin-parembasi-tis-proedroy-toy-ap-kai-ektakti>), as exemplified in her initiation of disciplinary proceedings against the judges in charge of a case involving the Urban Planning Authority of Rhodes and local businesses. The Plenary states that this is not an isolated incident, but rather the latest in a series of events in which the President has used her disciplinary powers to undermine the personal independence of the judiciary. The Plenary also directly links this issue to the public's perception of the independence of the justice system.

Accountability of judges and prosecutors, including disciplinary regime and bodies and ethical rules, judicial immunity and criminal/civil (where applicable) liability of judges (incl. judicial review)

5000 character(s) maximum

Independence/autonomy of the prosecution service

5000 character(s) maximum

Significant developments capable of affecting the perception that the general public has of the independence of the judiciary

5000 character(s) maximum

Public trust in the judicial system continues to decline. According to the 2025 Annual Quantitative Survey on Public Trust in Institutions, conducted by the Greek polling company Public Issue (<https://www.publicissue.gr/institutions-2025/>), only 24% of respondents either trust or rather trust judges and the justice system, compared to 74% who do not. The respective figures for 2024 are 27% and 70%. Although broader in scope, this survey question partly corresponds to the relevant Eurobarometer survey on the perceived independence of the justice system. The Eurobarometer also reveals low levels of trust in the Greek justice system, with only 41% of respondents considering it independent, compared to 55% who do not.

These figures suggest a wider climate of distrust fuelled by the handling of major public scandals. ALCO Polling surveyed the public on their views regarding the investigation and handling of the Tempi case by judicial authorities two years after the fatal train crash in 2023 (some results are publicly accessible here: <https://www.kathimerini.gr/politics/563477230/dimoskopisi-alco-ti-pisteyoyn-oi-polites-gia-ta-tempi/>). The survey revealed that 44% do not at all trust the justice system to investigate the crash and allocate responsibility, while an additional 23% somewhat trust it to do so. Only 9% stated that they fully trust the justice system.

Another poll by Metron Analysis, presented on 6 February 2025 at a symposium organised by the Alexis Tsipras Institute on 'The Rule of Law, Democracy and Justice' and accessible here, shows that over 70% of those surveyed believe that the justice system does not handle cases of public interest adequately. The same percentage believes that efforts have been made to cover up both the Tempi and Predator cases.

5000 character(s) maximum

C. Efficiency of the justice system

(Under this topic, you are not required to give statistical information but should provide input on the type of information outlined in the introduction)

[single market relevance] Developments related to efforts to improve the efficiency of the justice system (e.g. as regards length of proceedings, to address backlogs)

5000 character(s) maximum

November 2025 marked one year since the entry into force of the new judicial map. The Ministry of Justice issued a press release on the progress achieved during this year (available in Greek at <https://ministryofjustice.gr/?p=16018>). The Ministry reports significant improvements in terms of the length of the proceedings: at the Athens Court of First Instance, the estimated time for issuing a decision during the first nine months of implementation of the Judicial Charter was reduced from four years to approximately 1.5 years; at the Court of First Instance of Thessaloniki, it decreased from 1 year to 7.5 months, and at the Court of First Instance of Piraeus from 1 year to 9 months. These results, if verified, mark significant progress in this key area for the administration of justice, the efficient operation of the internal market, and the right to a fair trial, coming as they do from the three largest Greek courts in terms of volume of cases.

However, there are no independently verifiable sources for these figures, and the methodology used to obtain them has not been made public. Therefore, it is unclear how the Ministry extrapolated these numbers within only one year of the map's implementation. For example, in the case of the Athens Court of First Instance, the reduction in the length of proceedings is measured in years. Specifically, it is unclear how these reforms may impact appeals against first instance decisions and potentially cause a backlog within appellate courts (which are often appeal formations within the same courts of first instance).

It should also be noted that, despite its undoubted importance, speedy administration of justice should not be the only consideration with regard to fair trial rights. Limiting access to a natural judge for many citizens living in rural and remote areas was a contentious issue during the parliamentary discussion of the draft bill for the judicial map (see, for example, <https://syriaza.gr/i-efarmogi-tou-neou-dikastikou-charti-tha-ginei-en-kinisei-pame-ki-opou-vgei/>). A reliable, evidence-based fundamental rights impact assessment is still lacking.
