

2026 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the Annual Rule of Law Cycle, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, six editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published since 2020.

As every year, the Commission would like to invite the stakeholders to provide contributions to the 2026 Rule of Law Report. On the basis of these contributions and on-going developments, further targeted questions may be shared at a later stage of preparation of the 2026 Rule of Law Report, in particular in the context of country visits, or bilateral contacts.

The Commission invites stakeholders to provide contributions which include:

- (1) developments and measures taken in relation to the recommendations in the 2025 report,
- (2) developments related to topics covered in the 2025 country chapters, as well as any other new developments related to the rule of law.

The input should consist of a short summary, if possible in English, covering the areas referred to below. Legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link. Contributions should focus on significant developments since the last Rule of Law Report both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

This questionnaire also integrates the separate questionnaire on the single market from last year. In addition to these specific questions, respondents to the questionnaire are invited to consider the Single Market dimension, including any relevant cross-border issues, in all their answers.

Where questions of particular relevance under the single market dimension, this is indicated before the relevant question.

[1] Unless the information was already submitted in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information to be included:

Under each of the four pillars, the replies should include references to the following types of information:

A) Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- legislative plans envisaged by the Government

B) Policy developments

D) Any other relevant developments

- National authorities are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

Where relevant, please also indicate whether the developments reported are linked to the implementation of reforms and investments under the national Recovery Resilience Plan. To simplify your answers to the questionnaire, if there are no developments, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports does not need not be repeated.

I. Justice System

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2025 Report regarding the justice system (if applicable)

5000 character(s) maximum

As of 1st January 2025 the Government Bill from the Ministry of Health and Social Affairs State support to faith communities and civil society – uniform and legally certain conditions Prop 2023/24:119, came into effect. The new act contains provisions on when a religious community other than the Church of Sweden is entitled to state grants. The previous Act (1999:932) on Support to Religious Communities is repealed. The definition of a religious community in the Act (1998:1593) on Religious Communities is amended, and new provisions regarding state assistance with fees for religious communities other than the Church of Sweden are introduced into that act. A democracy clause applies to support from the Inheritance Fund (Allmänna arvsfonden) pursuant to the Inheritance Fund Act (2021:401) and to support for faith communities pursuant to the new Act on State Grants to Faith Communities and the Act on Religious Communities. A democracy clause identical to the one proposed for support from the Inheritance Fund should apply to other state grant-making directed at civil society, unless it is unnecessary. Since this grant-making is primarily regulated through ordinances, an identical democracy clause should be incorporated into the ordinances that regulate the other conditions for the granting of funds. The Government further proposes that a new act on the processing of personal data and a new provision on confidentiality be introduced into the Public Access to Information and Secrecy Act (2009:400)."

During 2025 the Agency has continued its efforts to ensure that the reforms to the legal framework for the funding and operation of civil society organisations does not unduly affect civil society engagement. In the appropriation directions (Regleringsbrev) for 2025, the Agency is instructed to report on the measures taken to support civil society organisations in developing their capacity to handle necessary requirements for administrative competence. The assignment to the Agency is a continuation of the assignment first provided in 2024. The assignment is closely related to the introduction of the democracy conditions. The Agency has during 2025 finalised a thorough consultation process with civil society organisations, commenced in 2024, to strategically develop adequate support required by civil society organisations. The support will focus on financial capacity and transparency, access to public grants, and conditions from public grant makers regarding democratic structures. The Agency has furthermore conducted a dialogue with a wide spectrum of civil society organisations regarding their experiences of the first year of implementation of the democracy conditions, that will contribute to shape the continued work of the Agency in 2026. In addition, government has commissioned the Agency to establish a new national support function to assist other grant-giving bodies. The primary goal is to strengthen oversight and ensure that government grants to civil society are used correctly and are not allocated to activities that conflict with democratic values. For the 2025 fiscal year, the government has allocated SEK 5 million specifically to operate this administrative support function. MUCF will serve as a knowledge hub for other government agencies. This includes assistance in applying the recently adopted democracy criteria. The mission is part of a broader initiative to prevent fraud, incorrect payments, and the funneling of funds to anti-democratic or violent extremist environments.

The function aims to create a more uniform and legally secure grant-giving process across the country by fostering closer cooperation between different funding authorities.

The Agency is in the process of conducting a dialogue with grant-giving agencies to lay the basis for the continued work. The Agency has during the year prepared for a dialogue between civil society organisations, grant-giving Agencies, and the Ministry of Health and Social Affairs (Socialdepartementet) regarding the democracy conditions, to take place during the first quarter of 2026, to further guide the work with the implementation of the conditions.

The Agency is assigned by the government to monitor the conditions for civil society and its development over time on a yearly basis. The report is including monitoring of exposure to threats, vandalism and violence. The report published 2025, covering 2024, shows that one in four associations (23 per cent) has been subjected to violence, vandalism, theft, threats or harassment during 2024. The proportion of associations stating they were victims of violence, vandalism or theft was at its lowest in 2021 at 10 per cent; it then increased to around 20 per cent in 2022–2023, before decreasing to 15 per cent in 2024. The proportion reporting exposure to threats or harassment was lowest in 2021 at 9 per cent, and has since remained at approximately 16 per cent during the years 2022–2024. Being subjected to violence, vandalism or theft is more common among sports clubs and associations for children and young people. Exposure to threats or harassment is more common among advocacy and opinion-forming associations, religious organisations, associations with five or more employees, and associations for children and youth.

Threats and attacks on civil society organisations is an area of importance to monitor and develop a greater understanding of. Hence the Agency has during 2025 initiated report to further develop knowledge on the matter. The report is to be completed and published in 2026.

Organisation of financial support for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. framework to ensure access to funding, and for financial viability, taxation/incentive/donation systems, measures to ensure a fair distribution of funding)

5000 character(s) maximum

The Agency is assigned by the government to monitor the conditions for civil society and its development over time on a yearly basis. Monitoring financial position and long-term prospects of associations is part of the report. The report published in 2025, covering 2024, show that the majority of associations, 86 per cent, agree that they have had good financial conditions to conduct their core activities during the year. This proportion decreased slightly during the pandemic years before increasing again. Furthermore, 83 per cent of associations agree that they continue to have good opportunities to operate over the coming years. Membership fees, grants for regular activities, and income from their own sales remain the sources of income that most associations cite as very important. One-third of associations receive no income from the state, regional, or local authorities. 42 per cent assess that their membership numbers remained unchanged over the past year. 25 per cent reported a decrease, while 33 per cent saw an increase. The proportion of associations stating that membership numbers have decreased is at a lower level in 2024 than the previous year, when 29 per cent gave that response. During the year, 11 per cent of associations considered closing down their operations, which is a decrease from the previous year (14 per cent).
