Welcome and introductory remarks

09:45

Roundtable on discussion paper on e-voting by Prof. Dr. Dr. Robert Krimmer:

- 1. How could the main forms of e-voting – optical scanners, direct-recording electronic voting machines, Internet voting, and any mixed forms – be covered in the most feasible way?*
- 2. How can a needs-based approach be developed?*
- 3. How can verifiability add to the conduct of elections?*
- 4. How can election technologies be introduced responsibly?*
- 5. How to ensure transparency in the use of e-voting?*
- 6. How can the impact of e-voting be measured, including voter turnout, or the cost in comparison to traditional paper voting?*
- 7. How to ensure that voters with special needs benefit from the introduction of e-voting?*
- 8. How can voters living abroad best benefit from the introduction of e-voting?*
- 9. How can voting be enabled on mobile devices?*

Commission: proposed way forward to prepare the compendium. Elements for discussion:

1. the structure of the compendium of e-voting practices;
2. its scope, whether to include practices other than voting and counting, with appropriate changes in the title;
3. practices in the EU to be included;
4. structure and content of contributions; and

5. deadlines for contributions and peer review.
