European Semester: 2022 cycle

- 2022 Annual Sustainable Growth Survey outlines the policy priorities in the coming year and provides guiding principles for implementation.
- 2022 Semester marks a gradual shift in economic policy coordination:
  - From management of the COVID-19 crisis towards sustainable recovery post-COVID;
  - Now focus is on ensuring a transformational and inclusive recovery and stronger resilience – starting from the implementation of the Recovery and Resilience Plans;
  - Identifying and addressing outstanding and newly emerging challenges, including the current geopolitical situation.
- The policy priorities are structured around the four dimensions of competitive sustainability and in line with the Sustainable Development Goals.

2022 Semester cycle

What remains

- Compass: competitive sustainability
- Facts based assessment of economic and social challenges
- Dialogue with stakeholders

What changes

- Gap analysis with RRPs
- Stronger MS focus
- Content of the Spring
   Package
- Readability of documents

European Semester: Gap analysis

Commission

Country Reports are the analytical basis for the 2022 country-specific recommendations. They identify country-specific vulnerabilities and priority reforms and investments, inter alia with a view to reduce dependency on Russian fossil fuels.

European Semester – CSRs

- National Recovery and Resilience Plans address most of past CSRs
  - Focus on delta between the (still relevant) CSRs and the RRPs
  - > Parsimonious approach to deliver tangible results
- New challenges have arisen
  - > Russian invasion of Ukraine, energy dependency and economic impact
- MS without an adopted plan

European

Commission

Coverage of Country-specific recommendations (II)

- Mapping by policy areas on shares of country-specific recommendations covered by the Recovery and Resilience Facility
- Based on 23 Recovery and Resilience Plans (22 adopted by the Council + SE positively endorsed by the Commission)*
- Very high coverage in the area of social policies, education and labour market
- Good coverage in area of business environment
- Areas for improvement: taxation and housing market

* Due to time lag of data, BG will be shown only in next iteration

European Semester: an agile framework to address new challenges

- Current Semester cycle will address outstanding and newly emerging challenges for our economies by identifying ways to:
  - accelerate our transition to clean energy and
  - reduce dependency from fossil energy sources
- Coordinated response: implementation of RRPs is interlinked with the energy policies connected to the REPowerEU plan

REPowerEU: RRF and European Semester

European Semester

- Country Report: identifying challenges linked to REPowerEU
- Country-specific recommendations: translating the EU-wide REPowerEU objectives in national objectives

Recovery and Resilience Plans

- Additional reforms and investments to address REPowerEU objectives
- CSRs are the basis for preparing the RRP: each plan needs to address all or a significant subset of challenges identified in the relevant CSRs

REPowerEU

- Diversifying of supplies: higher levels of biomethane and hydrogen, higher LNG imports and pipeline imports from non-Russian suppliers
- Accelerating the reduction of EU's dependence on fossil fuels: increasing energy efficiency in buildings and industry, increasing the share of renewables

European Semester 2022: indicative calendar

Second half of April

Member States submit their National Reform Programmes (NRP) and Stability/Convergence Programmes (SCP)

Second half of April – Early May

Bilateral discussion on REPowerEU between each Member State and Commission to discuss energy-related reforms and investments identified in draft Country Reports and Country-specific recommendations

Second half of May

- Commission adopts Semester Spring Package
- Commission adopts REPowerEU package

Adoption of the European Semester documents by Council envisaged for July 2022.
