27th ANNUAL REPORT ON MONITORING THE APPLICATION OF EU LAW (2009)

ANNEX I

DETECTION OF INFRINGEMENT CASES

NOTICE

This year Annex I contains three additional tables containing information resulting from developments which have been introduced by the European Commission in the way it manages enquiries and complaints on the application of EU law whose functioning is still being tested and fine-tuned. These methods will, over time, change the basis on which the statistical information provided in the Annual Report is provided. This change will take place gradually as new files are treated through the new processes and the files already existing in the earlier processes are closed. There will therefore be a period in which the statistics reflect files being treated through the new and former methods. This is likely to make it more difficult to interpret some aspects of the information during the transitional period.

One development concerns the part of the system in which complaints and enquiries on the application of EU law coming from citizens or legal persons are recorded. This now registers all such enquiries and complaints according to the intentions of the correspondent, indicated in the correspondence, of the intention to be sending an enquiry or complaint.

Previously all enquiries on the application of EU law and much correspondence by which citizens or legal persons complained about problems in the application of EU law were not registered in a way which allowed this category of correspondence to be separately identified among the other correspondence received by the Commission. Those complaints which the Commission services considered provided sufficient indications of the possible existence of an infringement of EU law by a Member State were recorded in a way which enabled their separate identification from other correspondence and from active infringement proceedings.

EU Pilot is a part of the system which provides for communication between Member States and Commission to answer enquiries or respond to complaints, including possible infringements of EU law. For the time being 15 Member States participate in EU Pilot. These are: AT,CZ,DE,DK,ES,FI,HU,IE,IT,LT,NL,PT,SE,SI,UK . Apart from enquiries or complaints coming into the Commission, a file can be opened in EU Pilot on the initiative of the Commission services as a result of any other source of information. EU Pilot is not used on issues of late communication by Member States of their measures adopted to transpose new EU directives into their law. The Commission operates a separate procedure by which the late communication of transposition measures is identified and an infringement proceeding is initiated.

If an enquiry or complaint concerns an issue that could constitute an infringement of EU law and the process of managing that issue through EU Pilot does not result in the infringement having been corrected, the Commission may initiate an infringement proceeding against the Member State concerned by sending a letter of formal notice.

The three new tables contain data extracted from these parts of the Commission's system for the management of this area of its work.
