

2024 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the Annual Rule of Law Cycle, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, four editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021, 2022 and 2023.

The Commission would like to invite stakeholders to provide contributions to the 2024 Rule of Law Report. This survey provides information on the type of information and topics that will be covered in the 2024 Rule of Law Report, in order to allow stakeholders to provide input. More targeted input may be requested at a later stage of preparation of the 2024 Rule of Law Report, including in the context of country visits, or bilateral contacts.

The 2024 Rule of Law Report will continue to deepen the assessment under the existing four pillars, and will also follow-up on the implementation of the recommendations to Member States, that were issued as part of the 2023 Rule of Law Report. The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2023 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2023^[1] falling under the ‘type of information’ outlined in section II.

The input should consist of a short summary, if possible in English, covering the areas referred to below. Legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link. Contributions should focus on significant developments since the last Rule of Law Report both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

[1] Unless the information was already submitted in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

A) Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

B) Policy developments

- Implementation of legislation
- Evaluations, impact assessment, surveys
- White papers/strategies/actions plans/consultation processes
- Follow-up to reports/recommendations of Council of Europe bodies or other international organisations
- Important administrative measures
- Generalised practices

C) Developments related to the judiciary / independent authorities

- Important case law by national courts
- Important decision/opinions from independent bodies/authorities
- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[2])

D) Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

Please also indicate whether the developments reported are linked to the implementation of reforms and investments under the RRP, where applicable.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

[2] Such as: media regulatory authorities and bodies, national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsman institutions, supreme audit institutions and, where they exist, transparency authorities.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

The state of the rule of law across the EU has remained unsatisfactory throughout 2023. While positive developments have begun in countries such as Bulgaria and Poland, others, such as Slovakia and Hungary, have worsened or stagnated. Russia's ongoing war against Ukraine, the Israel-Hamas conflict, migration, climate change and the economic consequences thereof have shifted public discourse towards more reactionary policies and deepened societal divisions across much of the EU, seen through social media polarisation, violent protests and restrictions on the freedom of assembly. Civil society continues to face pressures in numerous Member States, often being the targets of incompatible legislation or smear campaigns, particularly those advocating for the rights of vulnerable groups. Funding options also remain uneven across the Union, particularly in the east where foreign funding sources, including from the EU institutions, remain the only reliable option and are used to discredit the CSOs. Disinformation continues to be a major challenge ahead of elections both in the EU and the US. At the EU level, the Qatargate scandal has put corruption in institutions back on the agenda, however the discourse has been deflected towards the role of CSOs in allegedly enabling corruption rather than institutional shortcomings. This worrying development has also been mirrored in Member States where suspicion of civil society among policy makers has increased, prompting calls to strengthen legislation to track their funding streams and activities.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2023 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2023 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2023^[3]. Please always include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English). Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Information provided in reply to the first question under each pillar, related to the follow-up to the recommendations, does not need to be repeated in subsequent parts of the questionnaire, but can be cross-referenced in the subsequent questions, where relevant. All other questions are not limited to the recommendations, but as in previous years, cover the entire scope of the Report.

[3] Unless already covered in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Member State covered in contribution [only one choice possible]

If you wish to submit information concerning several Member States, please fill in the questionnaire separately for each Member State. There is no limit to the number of contributions submitted by a single participant.

5000 character(s) maximum

Access to information and public documents by public at large and journalists (incl. transparency authorities where they exist, procedures, costs/fees, timeframes, administrative/judicial review of decisions, execution of decisions by public authorities, possible obstacles related to the classification of information)

5000 character(s) maximum

Lawsuits (incl. SLAPPs - strategic lawsuits against public participation) and convictions against journalists (incl. defamation cases) and measures taken to safeguard against manifestly unfounded and abusive lawsuits

5000 character(s) maximum

Other - please specify

5000 character(s) maximum

IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2023 Report regarding the system of checks and balances (if applicable)

5000 character(s) maximum

A. The process for preparing and enacting laws

Framework, policy and use of impact assessments and evidence based policy-making, stakeholders'[1] /public consultations (including consultation of judiciary and other relevant stakeholders on judicial reforms), and transparency and quality of the legislative process both in the preparatory and the parliamentary phase

[1] This includes also the consultation of social partners

5000 character(s) maximum

Rules and use of fast-track procedures and emergency procedures (for example, the percentage of decisions adopted through emergency/urgent procedure compared to the total number of adopted decisions)

5000 character(s) maximum

Rules and application of states of emergency (or analogous regimes), including judicial review and parliamentary oversight

5000 character(s) maximum

Regime for constitutional review of laws

5000 character(s) maximum

B. Independent authorities

Independence, resources, capacity and powers of national human rights institutions ('NHRIs'), of ombudsman institutions if different from NHRIs, of equality bodies if different from NHRIs and of supreme audit institutions

(Cf. the website of the European Court of Auditors: <https://www.eca.europa.eu/en/Pages/SupremeAuditInstitutions.aspx#>)

5000 character(s) maximum

Statistics/reports concerning the follow-up of recommendations by National Human Rights Institutions, ombudsman institutions, equality bodies and supreme audit institutions in the past two years

5000 character(s) maximum

C. Accessibility and judicial review of administrative decisions

Transparency of administrative decisions and sanctions (incl. their publication and rules on collection of related data)

5000 character(s) maximum

Judicial review of administrative decisions:

- short description of the general regime (in particular competent court, scope, suspensive effect, interim measures, and any applicable specific rules or derogations from the general regime of judicial review)

5000 character(s) maximum

Rules and practices related to the application by all courts, including constitutional jurisdictions, of the preliminary ruling procedure (Art. 267 TFEU)

5000 character(s) maximum

Follow-up by the public administration and State institutions to final (national/supranational, including the European Court of Human Rights) court decisions, as well as available remedies in case of non-implementation

5000 character(s) maximum

D. The enabling framework for civil society

Measures regarding the framework for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. legal framework and its application in practice incl. registration and dissolution rules)

5000 character(s) maximum

- There is no uniform interpretation of the procedures to registers a NGO in the judiciary – there are significant differences from court to court related to the requirements.
- The progress achieved during the pandemic related to the digitalisation of a few judiciary proceedings for registration was reversed.
- Any changes to the statute, including board members or office, must be approved ex-post following judiciary proceedings to take effect.
- The extract from the public National NGO Registry of the Ministry of Justice, necessary to start the operation of the organisation and to prove the leadership, legal representative, and the history of changes to the statute, is fee-based (around 15-20 EUR).
- There are no community centres of youth centres that could be used by young people to register the headquarters of the organisation as a start-up or to have access to spaces at accessible prices. This leads to the need of rent for everything, from the beginning, much more difficult compared to establishing a company where you can find initial support.
- Bank account and accountancy services are required in order to comply with the legal requirements for declarations, increasing the upfront costs. For companies, it is not required to have from the beginning the accountancy services, as the accountancy system is different (NGOs are using the same system as public institutions).

Rules and practices having an impact on the effective operation and safety of civil society organisations and human rights defenders. This includes measures for protection from attacks – verbal, physical or on-line –, intimidation, legal threats incl. SLAPPs, negative narratives or smear campaigns, measures capable of affecting the public perception of civil society organisations, etc. It also includes measures to monitor threats or attacks and dedicated support services

- “Political party- proxy nonprofits” do not have the same level of scrutiny as independent nonprofits, have more room of manoeuvring in their actions.
- The advantages of the public utility status are extremely discretionary.
- There have been multiple legislative attempts to make the board of directors of an NGO materially responsible in person for the actions of the NGO, of particular importance in case of organisations focused on policy matters (ex. Environmental protection, Better governance, etc.)
- There are cases of retaliation against activists, not necessarily young, ending with personal damages to the activist. Some of them involved transnational activities of political leaders and criminal groups with activities in Romania, Moldova and Serbia.
- The cases of threats are mostly not investigated by the law enforcement; no effective judiciary proceedings are followed in such cases, particularly those with a political focus.
- There are multiple cases of repercussions against activists investigating crimes related to political figures or law enforcement officials, or local organised crimes.

Organisation of financial support for civil society organisations and human rights defenders (e.g. framework to ensure access to funding, and for financial viability, taxation/incentive/donation systems, measures to ensure a fair distribution of funding)

- The access to public funding is still, to a wide extent, discretionary, based on the political support an organisation has among the political establishment. The not-so-discretionary funding – the nonprofit support regulated by law – is allocated in unharmonized manner.
- In the recent years, there has been instability around the fiscal support schemes – individuals and companies can redirect a certain percentage of their salary income tax and profit tax to a registry of organisations registered to this extent (the majority of NGOs do not comply with the requirements for this special registry). This fiscal scheme lacks predictability – even for the next year – thus hindering the planning and budgetary capacity of the organisation. This unpredictability relates to the percentage, to the applicable rules, and even to the future existence of the scheme.
- In the corporate sector, there is no distinction between support provided to non-profits as results of the marketing campaigns, as results of CSR policies, or as results of fiscal optimisation practices.
- There is a very limited application of the statutory schemes for funding of youth organisations, to a few municipalities, often among the wealthiest, and at risk of political patronage.

Rules and practices on the participation of civil society organisations and human rights defenders to the decision-making process (e.g. measures related to dialogue between authorities and civil society, participation of civil society in policy development and decision-making, consultation, dialogues, etc.)

5000 character(s) maximum

- All street actions require notification of the public authority in advance. Most of the authorities interpret the need to notify as the requirement to have the action approved by the authority.
- There have been cases in the past years of street actions by non-governmental actors (including young people) fined by authorities for organizing flashmobs.
- For demonstration, it is necessary to have responsible persons and to ensure a certain extent of security. Most NGOs cannot afford to organise a demonstration. The real beneficiary legislation has been interpreted as having the details of all participants in a demonstration.
- Conflictual positions often lead to non-cooperation with the public authority, limiting access to information and resources.
- The recent history of around 5 years shows that there are cases of retaliation from political actors, through the administrative influence they possess, in case of conflictual positions between the political leadership and NGOs focused on political/policy matters, investigations, advocacy, among others.

E. Initiatives to foster a rule of law culture

Measures to foster a rule of law culture (e.g. debates in national parliaments on the rule of law, public information campaigns on rule of law issues, contributions from civil society, education initiatives etc.)
