

2024 Rule of Law Report - targeted stakeholder consultation

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The annual Rule of Law Report lies at the centre of the Annual Rule of Law Cycle, which acts as a preventive tool, deepening multilateral dialogue and joint awareness of rule of law issues. So far, four editions of the Rule of Law Report have been published in 2020, 2021, 2022 and 2023.

The Commission would like to invite stakeholders to provide contributions to the 2024 Rule of Law Report. This survey provides information on the type of information and topics that will be covered in the 2024 Rule of Law Report, in order to allow stakeholders to provide input. More targeted input may be requested at a later stage of preparation of the 2024 Rule of Law Report, including in the context of country visits, or bilateral contacts.

The 2024 Rule of Law Report will continue to deepen the assessment under the existing four pillars, and will also follow-up on the implementation of the recommendations to Member States, that were issued as part of the 2023 Rule of Law Report. The contribution to be provided should include (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2023 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter and (2) any other significant developments since January 2023^[1] falling under the ‘type of information’ outlined in section II.

The input should consist of a short summary, if possible in English, covering the areas referred to below. Legislation or other documents may be referenced with a link. Contributions should focus on significant developments since the last Rule of Law Report both as regards the legal framework and its implementation in practice.

[1] Unless the information was already submitted in the input for the previous Rule of Law Reports.

Type of information

The topics are structured according to four pillars: I. Justice system; II. Anti-corruption framework; III. Media pluralism; and IV. Other institutional issues related to checks and balances. The replies could include aspects set out below under each pillar. This can include challenges, current work streams, positive developments and best practices:

A) Legislative developments

- Newly adopted legislation
- Legislative drafts currently discussed in Parliament
- Legislative plans envisaged by the Government

B) Policy developments

- State of play on terms, nominations and expired mandates for high-level positions (e.g. Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, Council for the Judiciary, heads of independent authorities included in the scope of the questionnaire[2])

D) Any other relevant developments

- Respondents are free to add any further information, which they deem relevant; however, this should be short and to the point.

Please also indicate whether the developments reported are linked to the implementation of reforms and investments under the RRP, where applicable.

If there are no changes, it is sufficient to indicate this and the information covered in the contributions for the previous Rule of Law Reports should not be repeated.

Questions on horizontal developments

In this section, you are invited to provide information on general horizontal developments or trends, both positive and negative, covering all or several Member States. In particular, you could mention issues that are common to several Member States, as well as best practices identified in one Member State that could be replicated. Moreover, you could refer to your activities in the area of the four pillars and sub-topics (an overview of all sub-topics can be found below), and, if you represent a Network of national organisations, to the support you might have provided to one of your national members.

Questions for contribution

The following four pillars (I.-IV.) are sub-divided into topics (A., B., etc.) and sub-topics (1., 2., 3., etc.). For each of the topics and sub-topics, you are invited to provide (1) information on measures taken to implement the recommendations addressed to the Member State in the 2023 Rule of Law report, as well as developments with regard to the points raised in the respective country chapter of the 2023 Rule of Law Report and (2) any other significant developments since January 2023[3]. Please always include a link to and reference relevant legislation/documents (in the national language and/or where available, in English). Significant developments can include challenges, positive developments and best practices, covering both legislative developments or implementation and practices.

If there are developments you consider relevant under each of the four pillars that are not mentioned in the sub-topics, please add them under the section "other - please specify". Only significant developments should be covered.

Accessibility of courts (e.g. court/legal fees, legal aid, language)

5000 character(s) maximum

Legal aid services are very limited for non-criminal cases and extrajudicial issues. Information about how to access legal aid is not easily available (online or off-line) and, especially for vulnerable persons who have difficulties accessing basic rights and public services which, in theory, are guaranteed. In this context, Expert Forum piloted a program on community paralegals in for Roma communities. The role of the community paralegal, as developed in the Republic of Moldova is to provide effective and easily accessible support to address basic legal problems faced by vulnerable communities. Lack of identity or property documents, a historical problem for vulnerable communities in Romania, means in practice lack of access to health services, social protection, education etc. The Community Paralegal is the person who, based on a relationship of trust with the members of the community where he/she works, assists vulnerable citizens to frame the problem correctly from a legal point of view and to identify the steps to be taken to resolve it in relation to public administration institutions, outside the court of law. The paralegal provides primary legal assistance to members of the local community. The paralegal helps people to correctly identify the legal issue and the applicable law, and then to identify the steps they need to take to access their rights under the law. For example, the paralegal explains to the person what documents are needed to obtain a social benefit or a civil status document and then assists the person in interacting with the competent public authority. The pilot project consisted in recruiting and training 7 paralegals who, over 6 months, supported more than 500 people from Făgăraș, Săcele (Brașov county); Malu Mare (Dolj county); Buzău (Buzău county); Brăila, Însurăței, Tichilești, Viziru, Șutești and Unirea (Brăila county). The most frequent requests received by paralegals concerned: (i) assistance in obtaining property deeds, information on property legalisation, support for land registry and inheritance operations, and support for people living in substandard conditions. (ii) assistance in obtaining identity documents or in the process of correcting errors in identity documents (iii) support in applying for social housing, setting up tenants' associations and accessing social services and benefits (iv) support in dealing with family law, education and employment issues. Expert Forum, together with partner organizations, strongly believes that there needs to be increased efforts to ensure access to justice and public services for vulnerable and poor communities. Many of the issues they are facing require a more integrated approach to providing legal aid, focusing on specific groups which, so far have limited or no access to justice. Mor einformation on the pilot program can be found here: <https://expertforum.ro/program/parajurist-comunitar/>

The new structure which replaced the Special Section for Investigating Crimes committed by Magistrates (SIIJ) has yet to produce any results. There is no public data available regarding their activity, with the exception of the number of cases which had been redistributed to different prosecution units after the dismantling of SIIJ and number of cases closed at the end of 2022. It is unknown how many of the specially designated prosecutors are actually appointed at present and working on these types of cases. This is particularly concerning with regards to the General Prosecution Office where many prosecutors retired in 2023. As the former chief prosecutor of the DNA pointed out, since the creation of SIIJ, there have been no magistrates indicted for corruption. The new structure perpetuates this trend and creates impunity for magistrates. EFOR strongly believes that this competence should return with the National Anticorruption Directorate, which has the expertise to investigate and a proven track record on combating corruption in the judiciary.

III. Media pluralism and media freedom

Please provide information on measures taken to follow-up on the recommendations received in the 2023 Report regarding media pluralism and media freedom (if applicable)

5000 character(s) maximum

The media landscape and ownership in Romania remains highly politicized. In 2023, it has been visibly affected by the allocation of high value contracts financed from state subsidies received from political parties for propaganda. In the first 10 months of 2023, some 100 million RON (20 million EUR) have been allocated through non transparent contracts mostly by the Social Democrat Party and the National Liberal Party to consultancy companies or in some cases directly to the media outlets themselves(see here: <https://expertforum.ro/subventii-partide-in-2023/>). While contracting for political TV or radio propaganda is not allowed in non-electoral periods, the payments are made through websites or other companies related to the stations, while the subjects proposed by political parties also reach prime time news. This approach severely affects the right to information of the general public, as topics are filtered and some of the issues which are damaging for the image of the political parties are not even featured by some media outlets. The impact is even higher taking into consideration the 2024 electoral year, as a handful of political parties and politicians have steadily built their image, while affecting the general level playing field. The contracts are not public and the campaigns are not marked in any manner, as there is no legal definition of political advertising outside the election period.

In 2023, the independence of the media was affected by decisions of owners to dismiss journalists based on biased motivations, connected to commercial reasons, leading to the betting industry. Several journalists and persons from the management of Gazeta Sporturilor and Libertatea, media outlets which had some of the highest viewership in Romania, were dismissed in spite of public criticism iterated by other journalists and civil society organizations .

Intimidation continues to be used as a dissuasive mechanism against freedom of speech. Journalist Emilia Șercan has been subject to several intimidation actions, including death threats and a kompromat campaign which led to the publication of personal photographs. In the first case, two persons in leading positions from the Police Academy have been convicted in 2022 with suspension for blackmail. In the latter situation, where the journalist accused plagiarism in the case of the former prime minister Nicolae Ciucă, the investigation was closed by the authorities, even though the journalist accused that sensitive information was leaked including by the law enforcement . This continues the series of intimidation or surveillance actions against journalists, which are connected to their work.

Rules and practices guaranteeing journalists' independence and safety, including as regards protection of journalistic sources and communications, referring also, if applicable, to follow-up given to alerts lodged with the Council of Europe's Platform to promote the protection of journalism and safety of journalists

Access to information and public documents by public at large and journalists (incl. transparency authorities where they exist, procedures, costs/fees, timeframes, administrative/judicial review of decisions, execution of decisions by public authorities, possible obstacles related to the classification of information)

5000 character(s) maximum

Access to information remains an issue due to selective interpretation of the law, lack of capacity of public institutions or other actors which are subject to the law and or lack of will to disclose public information. Appeals in court could be lengthy, which reduce the efficiency of the recourse mechanisms. In the case of political party contracts with the media a civil society organization went to court to ask for the contracts and while court decisions have been issued to provide the information, PNL and PSD failed to provide the contracts; USR remains the only one that publishes the allocations of funds by default. In another visible case, the Presidency refused to publish the costs of the flights of the President, invoking state secret, although the information was requested by several journalists. Recorder initiated a petition asking citizens request the information from the Presidency, which was used by more than 40,000 citizens. (<https://recorder.ro/transparenta/>)

Weakening of budget transparency: 2023 was the first year in which the Government replaced the budget rectification (a transparent process requiring disclosure and Parliamentary debate on budget revenues and expenditures), expected in late summer 2023, with a non-transparent increase of the Reserve Fund. The Reserve Fund is meant for ad hoc allocations of budgetary funding for critical emergencies, mostly reallocating by cuts of unspent expenditure from ministries and agencies. The budget transfer via the Fund is significant: 32 bn RON (6.4 bn EUR), 10 times higher than the historic maximum of 2020, during the pandemic. By the use of the Reserve Fund, the Ministry of Finance avoided public discussions on a revised (higher) budget deficit for 2023, as well as on fiscal and budgetary indicators, de facto reducing investments for a pro-cyclical increase of recurrent budgetary spending on salaries. Though the Reserve Fund should mostly be dedicated to one-off, infrastructure investments (such as repairs of destroyed assets in case of natural calamities) or for other situations where rapid intervention is needed, in 2023 amounts were allocated mostly for salary increases in education, transport, intelligence, or healthcare, fueling also inflation. About 350 mn RON (70 mn EUR) were directed to investment programs managed by the Ministry of Development, Public Works and Administration which have a history of weak procurement controls and discretionary allocation, targeted preferentially to friendly local governments and contractors. The analysis of data regarding these programs (including Anghel Saligny, the National Program for Local Development and those managed by the National Investments Company) has highlighted a high number of politically connected companies which receive contracts, as well as a lack of performant oversight of implementation (<https://expertforum.ro/2ani-saligny/>).

In 2023, Strategic Lawsuits Against Public Participation (SLAPP) continued to represent an issue. The most visible instance was the one involving Asociația Salvați Bucureștiu, a nonprofit advocating for legal urban development. This was one of the civic organizations which supported a group of citizens in a case in court against a developer in Bucharest and which was subject to potential dissolution. This follows a similar case in 2022 when Asociația Miliția Spirituală was dissolved as it could not pay the legal fees after losing in court with the same developers. This typology of behaviour aims to discourage civil society organizations and citizens to initiate legal actions in court.
