The Annual Burden Survey

The Commission has been publishing Annual Burden Surveys since 2017. They present the Commission’s action to simplify and modernise EU rules and explain with concrete examples what was achieved with the REFIT (Regulatory Fitness and Performance) programme, the ‘one in, one out’ approach and the Fit for Future high-level expert group. This year in particular, it reports on the very positive results of the first year of implementation of the ‘one in, one out’ approach. The Annual Burden Surveys are part of the Commission’s Better Regulation agenda.

The Better Regulation agenda

The Commission is committed to ensuring that EU legislation achieves its objectives and avoids unnecessary costs, both when it proposes legislation and when it revises it. The Commission’s better regulation system is internationally recognised and ranked as one of the most advanced by the OECD. It systematically assesses the economic, social, and environmental impacts of policy action and ensures a consistently high quality of proposed legislation.

REFIT achievements 2022

In 2022, the Commission finalised 18 evaluations and fitness checks of existing legislation, while 24 are ongoing. Co-legislators adopted 39 initiatives including significant simplification and burden reduction measures based on the Commission proposals, while another 76 REFIT initiatives are pending adoption. These initiatives will bring significant burden reduction and simplification benefits to citizens, businesses and authorities.

Examples of burden reduction and simplification:

- The proposal to revise the Design Directive and the Community Design Regulation is expected to save costs of up to EUR 1.6 million, while the proposed liberalisation of the spare parts markets could lead to costs savings of up to EUR 544 million per year.
- The revised guidelines on State aid rules for broadband networks, and for climate, environmental protection and energy aim to cut red tape for businesses and public authorities and improve legal certainty for Member States and other stakeholders.
- The proposal to revise the Advanced Passenger Information Directive would allow faster border checks for air travellers, with annual cost savings of around EUR 88 million for the airline industry.

The REFIT scoreboard presents all achievements since 2015.
